

Financial Technology Vendor Services

Application & System Integration Testing

FinTech companies conduct extensive Application and System Integration testing. Depending on the scope of your App you may need user testers (consumers) willing to share proprietary data such as employer and payroll information and conduct a demo user flow integration test.

Ongoing Integration Testing

Developing a financial Application that requires ongoing consumer user testing at multiple financial institutions in the US or Canada? We will recruit consumers from our proprietary database to open specific named consumer or small business checking accounts and present the online access credentials back to you, from which you will test your integrations and user interfaces.

We are a Trusted Source to the FinTech Industry

- 15 Years of Experience and over 1,300 delivered user accounts
- Short-term and long-term testing engagements

We do the recruiting specific to your FinTech project.

With 30 years of Customer Experience (CX) measurement services, and 15 of those years dedicated to the recruitment and delivery of financial, utility and retail accounts to FinTech and website performance monitoring companies, we are very good at what we do. Partnerships have included Yodlee, Dynatrace, Keynova, Dapi, and others.

We will broaden the scope of your tester accounts by delivering online access credentials to multiple institutions ensuring your Application works seamlessly within different financial, retail, utility and payroll companies.
